

BRITTNEY BARTLETT

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR OF INDIVIDUAL GIVING

Brittney cultivates meaningful relationships that help sustain and bolster MADRE's critical work. Spending the majority of her career in the human rights and social impact space, she serves as an expert on launching donor stewardship programs, crafting compelling fundraising content, and curating bespoke engagement opportunities for supporters to connect with the progressive feminist movement.

Prior to MADRE, Brittney worked in development at Human Rights First and Amnesty International USA, helping to build and grow their individual giving programs. She holds an MA in International Administration from the University of Miami and a B.S. in Criminology from Barry University.

- ▶ Brittney's writing has appeared in the Journal of Feminist Scholarship.
- ▶ She served as a panelist at the 2022 annual Collaborative by Classy on how to build and grow a monthly giving program.

Follow @MADRESpeaks

Questions?

media@MADRE.org

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

- ▶ Fundraising
- ▶ Strategic philanthropy
- ▶ High-net worth donors
- ▶ Corporate social impact
- ▶ State registration compliance
- ▶ Direct mail programming