

MARLOW MURPHY

CONTENT SUPERVISING
MANAGER

Marlow develops written and digital content and messaging for MADRE, striving to bring clarity and purpose to all communications. She has more than a decade of experience in policy and advocacy communications and has worked as a reporter, media liaison, and content developer for organizations including the United Federation of Teachers, the Empire State Pride Agenda, and Transportation Alternatives. She has also provided media relations and communications support for political campaigns from the Congressional level down to the New York City Council.

Marlow is an experienced public speaker and panelist, and has given interviews for television, radio, digital, and print media.

- ▶ Marlow's essay 'Daughter of the Irish' was included in the 2021 anthology The Writing Irish of New York.
- ▶ Marlow twice won recognition from the Metro New York Labor Communications Council for her reporting for the 'New York Teacher.'
- ▶ Her work has also appeared in digital publications including 'Them' and 'IrishCentral.'

Follow @MADRESpeaks

Questions?
media@MADRE.org

AREAS OF EXPERTISE

- ▶ Writing and editing
- ▶ Media relations
- ▶ LGBTQIA+ rights
- ▶ Gender issues